Environmental Epidemiology: Effects Of Environmental Chemicals On Human Health

American Chemical Society William M. Draper

Environmental epidemiology: effects of environmental chemicals on. The main objective of the IPCS is to carry out and disseminate evaluations of the effects of chemicals on human health and the quality of the environment. Journal of Exposure Science and Environmental. - Nature Jul 9, 2015. Judgments regarding adverse effects of environmental chemical exposures on human health and resulting policy decisions typically involve