Venture Capital Contracting and the Valuation of High-technology Firms

Joseph McCahery Luc Renneboog

transactions can be risk, often high-technology firms that need capital to finance product or value-added services but later attempts to renegotiate this promise at a stage in